Body And Blood of Christ For Eternal Life

Today we renew our sensitivity and gratitude for the gift of the body and blood of Christ and the union with Jesus that it gives us. This gift is a sharing in the very life of Jesus. As bread, Jesus provides the food for eternal life, but not before being torn and broken on the cross. In the sacrifice of himself, Jesus offers his very self to be consumed so that whoever eats his body and drinks his blood will have life.

Flowers for the Altar this weekend are donated in thanksgiving to God for all Fathers of the Parish.

Today's Bulletin is in memory of Gus Targac sponsored by his family.

We Celebrate the Body of Christ

Centuries ago, St. John Chrysostom asked, "What is the bread actually? The body of Christ. What do communicants become? The body of Christ. Just as bread is the result of many grains and although remaining themselves are not distinguished from one another because they are united, so we too are mutually with Christ."

Whatever words we use – "the church," "the people of God" or "the community of believers" – as we celebrate the gift of the body of Christ, we also celebrate the gift of one another in Christ.

REFLECTION

A New Food That Makes Us Hunger For God

Food is a primordial human need. In the desert, when the people did not find anything to eat, God himself provided for them by sending manna from heaven, a food hitherto unknown, in order to answer the needs of each person. The gift of manna, at the same time had another meaning. It was meant to make the people hungry for God, without whom they could not survive. It also made them aware that “not by bread alone does man live, but by every Word that comes from the mouth of the God.” To look for other foods, to fear that God will fail to give us the one food we need most that he alone can provide is tantamount to doubting God. To no longer be content with this heavenly manna, worse, to be disgusted with it, is a sign of apostasy. God by giving the manna, tested the dispositions of their hearts.

The experience of the march through the desert, in want and hunger, with the daily manna and water from the rock as their only means of survival belongs to us too. We must remember it as one remembers a personal experience. In one way or another, the trial of the desert remains always present. This reliving in the present of the desert experience is founded on the fact that God always acts in the same way, whether today or yesterday. The trials God sends our way even today, aim at making us aware of our total destitution when we stray from him. In a sense, our trial, our Exodus is a grace despite its pain. It leads us to renew our trust in God, to give thanks to him for all he has done for us and for what he allows us to do with him.

Happy Father's Day

Prayer for Fathers

O God, giver of life and Father of us all, help me to be the kind of father to my children that You are to me. May I love them unconditionally, forgive them when they fail, counsel them when they doubt, lift them up when they fall, guide them in the darkness and walk beside them in the light. Show me, loving Father, how to teach them, to play with them, to share with them and to pray with them. Thank you for my children, thank you for my role as a father. Amen.

THE FEAST OF CORPUS CHRISTI

The feast of Corpus Christi originated during a time when reception of the sacrament of the Eucharist was practiced infrequently among the people. This gave rise to an already growing sense of devotion to the Eucharist, as the host was viewed by the faithful during the elevation at Mass. Over time, this came to be regarded as a principal means of obtaining grace – i.e. seeing (adoring) the Eucharist rather than receiving Holy Communion. Today's solemnity combines this medieval feast of the Most Holy Body of Christ with the nineteenth-century feast of the Most Precious Blood of Christ. In doing this, the Church holds up for us the ideal regard that we should have for both species of the sacrament in Holy Communion.
